GENOA AND TURIN ARE BOMBED BY R.A.F.

Italian Command States Both Cities Heavily Damaged

BY WES GALLAGHER

London, Oct. 23.—(P)—The mighty bomber arm of the RAF each across the Alps last night to strike the Italian homeland its heaviest air blow of the war, hitting Genoa with such a weight of explosives that even Rome conceded "great damage."

Turin, the Fascist arsenal city in the north, also was hit, but apparently the chief assault fell on the harbor and industries of Genoa, Italy's big northern Mediterranean port.

The air ministry mentioned "a strong force of air-craft," but did not disclose just how many planes were in it.

But the Italian communiqué spoke of the "notable dimensions" of the assault and Hitler's Axis partner now apparently has sampled the fiery devastation with which the huge four-motored bombers of the RAF have been scouring the Reich week after week.

Two air alarms, lasting 85 and 86 minutes, in the Swiss City of Geneva, attested to the number of planes which the British flung over Europe on a round-trip flight of 1,500 miles.

The air ministry said that not one of the British planes was missing from this first raid on Italy by home-based bombers in more than six months.

Genoa, a naval base as well as port and manufacturing center, had been free of raids for more than a year when high explosives and fire bombs began pouring on its narrow, twisting streets from a sky flooded with moonlight.

In the growing scale of Britain's air assaults on Germany, the air ministry's reference to "a strong force" frequently has meant 100, often two or three or more hundred planes in the bombing armada, but because of the greater distance involved in striking Italy the comparison may not hold.

Besides the perils of distance and high mountains with heavy bomb loads, the planes also faced the dangers of crossing Switzerland and France. They touched off alerts and intense anti-aircraft fire in the French cities of Vichy. (Turn to Page Seven)

ERRORIST METHODS FAIL TO FRIGHTEN

Washington, Oct. 23.—(P)—President Roosevelt asserted today that Japan would be violating the Geneva convention on treatment of war prisoners if she carried out threats she has been making against captured American aviators.

BY PRESTON GROVER
New Delhi, India, Oct. 23.—(P)—The Japanese announcement intentions to court-martial American "bomb - Japan" pilots caught an immediate Japanese rejoinder from the British in India today asserting that "no treats of this sort will have the slightest effect on Allied war strategy nor will Allied pilots take any notice of terrorist methods."

Transporting Of Workers Is Discussed

Transportation of defense workers in Warren county was the important topic for discussion at the first meeting of the Warren Personnel Association on Thursday night. Interested representatives of county schools, commissioners, rationing board, borough council, West Delaware Transportation Company and nearly every industry in Warren heard Clinton Stark, field representative of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, outline the needs and the plan for insuring transportation of war workers to and from their work.

It was stated by Mr. Stark that (Turn to Page Seven)

LANCASTER HIGH IN FARM PRODUCTS VALUE

Washington, Oct. 23.—(P)—Lancaster county, Pa., ranks fifth among the nation's counts in value of farm products produced in 1939.

A census bureau report valued the county's total yield at $24,548,638, a loss of about $6,000,000 from the 1939 figure. Four California counties were ahead.

TOT TRAFFIC VICTIM

Clayton, Oct. 23.—(P)—David E. Strayer, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Strayer, was killed by an automobile near his Blair county home yesterday. The child wandered from the home of relatives to a nearby highway.

Cold Period Threatens New Hardships For War Victims

By the Associated Press
Another period of cold threat- increased hardships for those people of Europe as winter began to stalk the armies in the east, vices from neutral Switzerland and Bulgaria.

Heavy snowstorms developed in central Transylvania, while the mountains around Budapest are already blanketed.

In Sweden a fuel commission proposed that the government mobilize 1,942 recruits, totaling 40,000 men, for timber cutting to compensate for a coal shortage due to delivery of only 1,500,000 tons of 6,000,000 tons promised by Germany.

German coal deliveries to Denmark also are behind schedule.

pest dispatch said that after several days of intermittent rains following one of the driest seasons ever experienced in the Balkans, winter arrived early in Rumania and Bulgaria.

The Berlin correspondent of the Leipziger Zeitung reported "cold and water everywhere" along central and northern areas of the German front. All vehicles except the largest trucks equipped with caterpillar treads were reported dead. Supply columns must do their utmost to assure food for the troops, the dispatch said.

Snow was already falling upon mountain villages in the Alpine district of Italy. A Budape-

ALLIES ARE BOLSTERING IN SOLOMONS

Enemy Warships and Transports Awaiting Zero Hour Targets For Rain of Aerial Bombs

"FEELER" IS REPULSED

BY JOHN H. WIGGINS
Washington, Oct. 23.—(P)—Persistent Allied air bombardment of a large Japanese war fleet in the southwestern Pacific appeared to day to have thrown a long-expected Nipponese invasion thrust off schedule, while giving Americans valuable time to bolster their forces in the Solomons.

Rendezvousing in the northern Solomon Islands about 10 days ago, the enemy warships and transports have been the target for an almost constant rain of Allied aerial bombs as they awaited the zero hour to surge toward the prized American-held airbase on Guadalcanal Island.

The latest attack on the enemy's ship concentration came last night (Australian time), when Allied bombers under General Douglas MacArthur's Australian command dumped 10 tons of explosives on Japanese vessels at Buin, at the southern tip of Bougainville Island.

The nocturnal raid drew strong anti-aircraft fire, but all the planes found their targets, MacArthur's communiqué reported, and returned safely to their bases.

Meantime, the navy disclosed that Japanese troops in the heavy jungle of northern Guadalcanal had attempted a minor thrust at the American positions on October 20. The "feeler" was repulsed and the navy said yesterday there was no "material change in the military situation" there.

An enemy bomber, believed to have been on a reconnaissance mission over the island, was brought down by anti-aircraft fire.

Australian troops, meanwhile, continued to push the enemy's attempted invasion of Port Moresby back toward Kokoda, between the Allied base and the enemy's base at Buna on the north coast.

S. A. Officials Speak Before Local Board

Brigadier G. E. Abrams, of New York City, head of the legal department of the Salvation Army, addressed the local advisory board and a few invited guests at a luncheon meeting in the Y.W.C.A. Thursday noon.

Brig. Abrams spoke on the finances of the Salvation Army nationally, with particular reference to bequests and endowments made to the Army. He explained in detail how these are handled and also outlined the general methods of financing the work of the Salvation Army throughout the United States.

Following his address, Brig. Abrams conducted a question and answer period during which he replied to inquiries regarding specific financial problems of the Salvation Army.

John G. Rossman, chairman of the Warren advisory board, presided at the meeting and the speaker was introduced by Brig. William Harris, of Pittsburgh, divisional commander for western Pennsylvania.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by Major Walter Daniels, commanding officer of the Warren corps.

The meeting here was arranged in connection with a tour of western Pennsylvania made by Brig. Abrams, accompanied by Brig. Harris. In addition to his Warren address Brig. Abrams also spoke at Oil City, Greenville and Meadville. They held a similar meeting in Erie last night.

TIMES TOPICSCANNED MUCH FRUIT

It is expected that before the season ends all records for canning fruits and vegetables at the Rouse Hospital will have been broken. The farm has a complete outfit for the canning of fruits and vegetables and they are sealed and processed much like the work done in larger packing houses. Last year over 1000 cans of fruits and vegetables were canned and due to the war situation it is expected that the number will be greatly exceeded this year.

Titusville, which recently raised heck with the Axis by staging an immense scrap drive, reports that Arthur Covell, seventh grade student of the Triumph township schools, took individual honors with 30 tons of scrap metal. Now, this reaching over into Warren county for the subject of prize awards is something to think about, and just suppose that the 30 tons had been added onto Warren county's total. There ought to be a law!

VICTORY

MILES

Harrisburg, Oct. 23—Maintenance forces of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways are erecting the new victory speed signs along the highways informing motorists that 35 miles an hour is the maximum speed for the war period. The new signs are made of a shredded wood pulp and highly compressed. They are weather proof.

The signs are 18 by 24 inches in size. They have a white painted background with the lettering in black. This is the same color scheme as all other traffic symbols along the highways of the Commonwealth.

Some of the signs already are in place. It is expected that the entire system will be covered by the end of October.

Blackout Is Awaited By Defense Corps

County Defense Officials are awaiting with some tension the secret code signals that will start the state-wide blackout surprise test that should be forthcoming soon. One has been ordered for this month.

"It's like waiting for a trout to grab your bait," said Forest Waite, local control center head. But we will be ready when it comes; all we know is that it's coming some time after dark, on one of the next nine nights."

State Defense officials have refused to give anyone a tip when the signal will be forthcoming and Allen Gibson, County Defense Council head, has all arrangements made so that every part of the county will snap into action when it comes. It is expected that this next test will find every air warden, auxiliary policemen and other defense workers 100% efficient in their work. The county setup was never in such fine shape.

"THE CHURCH AND DURABLE PEACE"

Much food for thought is contained in remarks made by Dr. H. C. Warren of the First Presbyterian church, addressing the Ministerial Association on the subject "The Church and a Durable Peace."

"Surely the day is past when men denounced the church for concerning itself with the way of the world," says Dr. Warren.

It is pretty well recognized that the church is composed of American citizens who are Christians and who have, therefore, not less but more reason for assuming responsibility in economic, social, political affairs, since all are involved in our national morality and spiritual health. Now it has become time for the church to take a leading part in worldwide affairs for the welfare of mankind. In order to do this, not only must we demonstrate our ability to live and act together in the spirit of Christ, instead of the topsy-turvy manner of our present denominational cross-purposes; but we must rise to the realization that the church in all the world is one.

"Whatever the quarrel of the nations, our Lord is not without His witnesses in any land. Beyond denominations, beyond races, beyond nationalities, we are Christ's Church. So far as the church is concerned, the world is one community and is our responsibility."

CHEWING GUM SCARCITY!

A real scarcity of chewing gum seems to exist in most retail stores of Warren and surrounding towns. Who would have thought of such a shortage as a result of the war? Gum-chewers are learning that it is. A man in New York City tried five stores the other day before he could get a package. Another in Reno, Nev., tried 14 stores in vain before picking up a package at the fifteenth.

A chewing gum executive has just been making a survey of the country and finds that shortages exist in most important cities and towns.

Where does it all go and who uses it? The armed forces use a great deal. It relieves thirst and is now included in certain army rations, especially those planned for jungle and desert warfare. Workers in factories where smoking is not allowed also use it in great quantities.

So gumless days are now in order, but why worry about such a small item as that. If you must chew something and you are deprived of gum, then we suggest chewing the rag as a substitute.

Selectee groups are scheduled to go to Erie Monday and Tuesday mornings for final physical examinations, reminding that Warren county is making an enormous contribution to the armed services of the nation.

News articles reaching the office seem to indicate that Warren county voters are waking up to the fact that there is a campaign on for governor and other state offices.

Your last opportunity to see one of the best productions staged by the Warren Players is offered tonight in the second performance of the fall show "Night Must Fall!"

A little belated but most cordial and sincere nevertheless, we extend congratulations to the Printz Co. on the occasion of the 56th anniversary of the founding of the firm.

There's an especially interesting tour planned for the Allegheny Hiking Club Sunday, in case you're interested.

If every one of America's 31 million families bought one less can of food per week, the saving would be 190,000 tons of steel—2,600 tons of tin, 77 tons of rubber.

Passage of that monster tax bill makes it imperative that every one cut corners a little more closely so as to be able to pay up on schedule next year.

Warren motorists are reminded that the Railway Express Agency is the only organization authorized to pick up and buy your surplus tires.

Get that gift box off to the overseas soldiers next week or you'll be out of luck. November first is the deadline.

It is encouraging to note the determined manner in which the workers of the Y. M. C. A. Call to Membership drive have tackled this important war-time job!

Washington In Wartime

(First of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON—If a soldier in Iceland is short a razor blade to shave his frost-bitten chin; if the boys in the Egyptian desert go thirsty for want of a water-bag; if the soldiers on Guadalcanal run out of ammunition, the man who takes the rap is Lt. Gen. Breckin B. (for Burke) Somervell.

It has been said that this is a war of machines and supplies, and every important victory thus far seems to bear that out. If that is true, then there is no more important man in the Army than Somervell.

A comparatively slim fellow, serious of face, and grayer than his 50 years warrant, General Somervell has been adding good marks to his Army record for more than 30 years.

Strangely, it probably can be attributed to a non-Army man and the New Deal that Somervell is where he is. Six or seven years ago, Harry Hopkins knew and admired Somervell. The story goes that it was through his suggestion that the Army engineer was given the task of administering New York's WPA.

Until 1936, there had been no administrator there who lasted more than a few months. Somervell lasted four years.

He had his battles and his shower of criticism. He was supposed to be particularly tough on left-wingers. He was probably the only man who invented an effective method of breaking sit-down strikes. When WPA workers staged a big one, Somervell issued an order to lock up the washrooms. That ended that.

and chaplain corps, and the chemical war service.

There has been a lot of stuff written and whispered, about General Somervell's "battle" with Donald Nelson and the War Production Board. Most of it is just Washington chatter. There have been clashes between Army supply forces and WPB chiefs, but it was never any struggle for power. Somervell has it.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—For quite a few months after we got into the war, there was a marked avoidance on the part of comedians, songwriters and scriptwriters to any topical references to A. Hitler, on the sound premise that Hitler was not funny.

The pendulum swung so far that Eddie Cantor, in launching his successful "Banjo Eyes" on Broadway, wrote out several references to A. Hitler which had been good laugh-getters in try-out performances.

Now the pendulum seems to be swinging the other way. Once again A. Hitler is being lampooned. I suspect that it is our national sense of humor reasserting itself after the first black days in which anger and revenge alone occupied our minds.

I would call it a healthy sign. A. Hitler still is not funny, but he is an easy target for ridicule—and ridicule is hard to take. It must be disconcerting to Nazi propagandists that our answer to threats and swagger and promises of Utopia is the Bronx cheer.

CONSEQUENCES of the song were several. Disney promptly renamed the Donald Duck short after the Wallace tune. A recording by Spike Jones (for Bluebird) caught on so swiftly that the recording company was 350,000 orders behind in no time, and Martin Block of WNEW, one of the local stations, began auctioning off the few available recordings for war bonds. In two days, Block and "Der Fuehrer's Face" sold $60,000 worth of bonds.

It all seems a fitting reward for Disney, who has more than gone all-out in making shorts and featurettes for the war effort. War work seems to inspire him, too, for his upcoming "Saludos, Amigos," a cartoon and pictorial record of South America, is for money the most imaginative and entertaining feature he has turned out. I thought Disney's "Bambi" missed fire in several directions, but "Saludos, Amigos" is something you shouldn't miss.

"Der Fuehrer's Face" comes close to catching the spirit of the times, which probably is why it has been such an instantaneous hit. It was written by Oliver Wallace of the Walt Disney musical staff for a Donald Duck short entitled "Donald In Nutzi-Land." Wallace's orders were to turn out something funny, and he, too, went through the questioning process: "What's funny about Hitler?"

Wallace decided the answer was in "Der Fuehrer's Face" and turned out the words and music in an hour and half. It has the swing (and some of the notes) of "The Jolly Coppersmith" and the Wiener schnitzel drinking song—but more than anything else, the Bronx cheer!

Dakar---Buttonhook Battlefield?

Dakar—Vichy naval base on the buttonhook-shaped peninsula on the western bulge of Africa—is the object of many rumors about impending attack (mostly axis-inspired). Strongly fortified, it might prove difficult for either Nazis or United Nations to take, but whoever controls this port controls the South Atlantic.

MILK

Milk production per cow in Pennsylvania on September 1 averaged 18.3 pounds which was the highest figure for that date on record, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Survey released by Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light. Seasonal decline in production per cow from August to September was much less than usual, the report states, due in large part to the excellent condition of pastures.

Farm Labor
No Handicap
In This State

Hardly any tomatoes, apples or other fruits and vegetables have been lost in this state because of insufficient farm labor, although farmers have reported critical situations, and with even less help in view today, many are concerned about the future, according to James E. Walker, chairman of the Pennsylvania War Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Mr. Walker based his statement on reports he has received in the last few days from various war boards and farm labor committee.

Farmers growing tomatoes have had sufficient help, he said, despite the fact that tomato pickers are needed promptly, and in great numbers. A certain amount of tomatoes rotted because of weather conditions in Franklin county, it was reported, but not because of a lack of pickers. Farmers were getting along "better than expected," and "no tomatoes fit for canning went to waste," it was reported. Tomato picking was mostly by women.

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed. In the steel mills this precious "scrap" is remelted with pig iron to produce the steel which goes into our machines of war.

Former Local Man Finds The British Soldier a Tough Guy

Sheldon Clough, son of the late S. Clough, born and raised in Warren is now in St. Petersburg, Fla., at his home recuperating from injuries received while serving with an American Mission in Africa with the British forces. He was interviewed by Jack Thale, a reporter for a St. Petersburg newspaper and the interview is highly interesting and his view of the fact that the British fighting man is especially enlightening inasmuch as there has been such widespread propaganda relative to him. The article follows:

By JACK THALE
He may be a little hard to get along with, but Tommy Atkins is hell of a fighting man.

Take that from Sheldon Clough, an engineer who's recuperating here currently from a variety of ailments and injuries picked up in a year as a member of the U.S. North African military mission.

Clough, who saw the raw bulldog courage of the British soldiers displayed along the heart-breaking mountains of Eritrea, where the Italians made their last stand, and under the burning, blinding, blistering desert sands in Libya, sees red when he hears or reads something about the Tommies allegedly "dogging it."

"I back them against the Australians, the Canadians, the New Zealanders—anybody," he declared yesterday. "In anybody's language the British soldier is a first class man, equal to the best."

"Look at their casualties. They're 20 or 30 to one higher than any of the other troops."

"When they're told to hold a position, they stick, and they'll stay there until Hades freezes over."

And Tommy keeps right on fighting under hellish desert conditions that are almost unbelievable. Clough asserted yesterday. Other troops are put on the desert battle line for maybe three weeks at a stretch. That's all they can stand of the awful heat, the thirst and the whipping sandstorms that can blind a man, or choke him, or drive him insane.

"But I've seen some British troops that go in there for four or five months at a lick," he revealed.

"And anybody that can do that is going to live for an awful long time, because nothing else will kill him."

Under those same conditions the Italians wilt and are so easy to capture that even some of the wild desert tribesmen go on an occasion foray and take a few officers and men as prisoners," Clough declared.

Even the Germans, hopped up as they are on Aryanism and the master race theory, have plenty of desertions.

But Tommy just digs in and fights.

Clough blames the things that are said and occasionally written about the British's fighting qualities on an insidious Axis propaganda. He doesn't underrate the cleverness of it. If people don't stop being suckers and believing such vicious rumors, he says frankly, it could cause trouble.

Clough went to Africa as a member of the engineering corps of Johnson, Drake and Piper, Milwaukee engineering firm which has contracts on several government bases.

LAURA WHEELER DESIGNS

KEEP IT WORKING

Think of all the time and energy your electric washer saves you each week. Then think how it would be to go back to the old way of doing the family wash if you let your washer get out of order. To keep your electric washer working—

- ◆ Follow manufacturer's directions concerning oiling, right amount of water, size of wash load and most efficient washing period. Too much of a washing load overtaxes the motor. Too long a washing period hastens wear.
- ◆ Rinse carefully, drain all water after using.
- ◆ Release pressure on wizzer rolls after using. Saves the spring and the rubber. Wipe rollers with a damp cloth. If stained, clean with soap and water.
- ◆ Never start the motor when washer or wizzer is in gear.

If your electric washer isn't performing exactly as it should, get in touch with your electric appliance service man. He knows how to keep it running for you—and make it last.

Preparing For Fun Fest At North Warren

He had headquarters in Asmara, a pleasant city of some 150,000 high up in the Eritrean mountains, but managed to cover most of the African battlegrounds during his tour of duty.

His outfit did the construction work assigned to them about three times faster than the British said it could be done, he revealed, "and they gave us full credit for it."

A back injury laid him up in a British hospital for several weeks, and as he was recuperating from that he contracted dengue fever.

About that time an American medical mission arrived and ticked him back for the states.

The voyage back was not without its moments—"a couple of brushes with submarines." On one occasion the ship's whole battery let go with a simultaneous salvo, and Clough, who had been sleeping peacefully until that moment, painfully picked himself up from the middle of the floor. The ship asserts to this day jumped at least four feet in the air.

He's resting and recuperating here now with Mrs. Clough at 725 Sixteenth avenue north. His back is still in brace, but he figures he'll be out of that in a few weeks and he is hopeful of being sent next Wednesday.

The committee in charge of entertainment for North Warren's ninth annual Halloween celebration announced today that there will be four high class acts presented each evening. There will be a completely new program with different entertainers, every night.

Among the many talented performers to appear will be Paul & Paulette, outstanding dance team from Erie, and Benny San Pietro, maestro of the harmonica, who has appeared on Fred Allen's radio show and has also played the Roxie Theatre in New York.

It is reported that the North Warren community building has already been transformed to a veritable midway, where the spooks, hobgoblins and witches gambol nightly in preparation for their 4-day reign starting next Wednesday.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — If the actor shortage gets too acute, there's still a way out for the movies. They can make pictures starring a Thing.

If the Thing is the star, it doesn't matter much whether the people around it have big names or not. And if you think this is crazy, look around at the stars we've made already. Sure, they're still using stars when they can get 'em, but remember the pinch isn't on yet. We've lost Gable and Stewart and Ayres and a bunch of the others, but we still have some stars around.

And there was "F for Freddie." You remember F, don't you? He was hero of that short "Target for Tonight"—a sort of gentleman bomber, if there's anything in a name.

The central character in "Tales of Manhattan" wasn't any of the long string of stars it boasted. It was a coat. The whole movie was a biography of that coat. Of course they needed the star names to draw in the customers, but when you got down to cases there wasn't one of 'em as important as that bit of wardrobe. When things get tougher and all the big boys are in the Army and all the big girls are WACs, they can still make a "Tales"—with the coat's name in lights. (There'll be precedent for this, too.) Mary Ann gets first billing in "Air Force."

Machines and robots have figured similarly in movies before. There was the "Iron Horse" made nearly 20 years ago. There was "The Covered Wagon" of approximately the same vintage. There was "Shanghai Express," in which the nominal star Marlene Dietrich had to have a fuss of feathers to keep the train from stealing the picture. There have been movies named for and played by "Noah's Ark," "Submarine D-1," "Dive Bomber." You can guess who'll be the heroine when they film "A Ship Is Born."

THE military consciousness of the times will inspire many more mechanical heroes—planes, boats, submarines, merchant ships, parachutes, cannon, rifles, bombs. I can see it now—the saga of a shiny new tea kettle from shop to home, to second-hand man to a shack by the river, to the junk pile, to its recovery in the scrap drive, its appointment with destiny in a steel furnace, its transformation into a bomb casing headed for Tokyo or Berlin.

Or if they figure this isn't important enough to get along without "name" stars, how about this one? The tenderly, reverently told history of a rubber tire.

As of this writing, there's no star extant who's more important, more alluring or beautiful.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are submitted by representatives of the various political parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

DEMOCRATIC

Philadelphia, Oct. 23—(P)—F. Clair Ross, Democratic nominee for governor, last night termed his Republican opponent, Adjutant General Edward Martin, "a throwback to the x x x days of the company town and company store, x x x the union blacklist and the labor spy."

Ross also attacked the administration of Republican Governor James, saying:

"Pennsylvania was near the top of the list of states in the care it extended to injured working men and women, x x x and James and the Republican party have dropped it to 16th place."

The state auditor general asserted that the Federal Social Security Board "had x x beat down Arthur James to prevent him from making a patronage hunting ground of the state's social service, which we Democrats put under the merit system."

Bristol, Oct. 23—(P)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot charged last night that the election of Adjutant General Edward Martin to the governorship would mean that Joseph

N. Pew, wealthy Sun Oil Company executive, "will be Governor Martin."

The issue in the November 3 election, the wife of the Commonwealth's former Republican governor, said, is whether the state will be controlled by big business or by the people.

JAMES TO SPEAK

Harrisburg, Oct. 23—(P)—Republican Governor Arthur H. James will make a political address next Wednesday night over a wide radio network.

Time and place of the 30-minute speech will be announced later. Early in the campaign, the chief executive said that "if they throw any balls my way, I'll bat them out" and sometime ago he called for the election of Adjutant General Edward Martin, the Republican nominee for governor.

On different occasions James has defended his administration's record against attacks by Auditor General F. Clair Ross, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, but said there was no necessity for him to take an active part in the campaign leading up to the Nov. 3 election.

TIMES TOPICSPublic Library Notes

No rationing of reading faces us this winter if we are to judge from the new titles coming off the press. They have made people vow to rearrange their time budget to allow for some of the best.

A book in great demand now at the public library is William L. White's They Were Expendable, a "straight from the shoulder" story of Bataan through the eyes of four survivors of the Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron 3. It is a grim, devastatingly "punkless," and magnificent story which should make every American both ashamed and proud. Robert Trumbull's The Raft is another remarkable book about a bomber crew's five weeks' drift on a rubber raft in the Pacific. James Aldridge, the twenty year old Australian war correspondent, is attracting attention and acclaim with his first novel, Signed With Their Honour.

Diversional reading certainly has its place in temporarily relieving tension today. For humorous relief we suggest Ludwig Bemelman's I Love You, I Love You, I Love You. Even Bemelman's Gestapo become objects of humour if that seems possible. Get Thee Behind Me, Hartzell Spence's account of his own experiences as a preacher's son is starting a run of popularity reminiscent of his One Foot in Heaven. For brilliant, biting satire we suggest Time to Be Born, Dawn Powell's witty, penetrating picture of a beautiful fraudulent novelist of Manhattan. One will be amused and exasperated with the Pennsylvania Dutch farmer in Mildred Jordan's Apple in the Attic.

Elizabeth P. Chevalier's Drivin' Woman seems to be leading in popularity among the novels. She may not be Scarlet O'Hara, but she is gay, glamorous and daring, a product also of the "Gone With the Wind" period. All theatre lovers and those who are susceptible to back-stage fascination will be delighted with Fitzroy Davis' Quicksilver. Big Doc's Girl by Mary Medearis may lay no claim to literary greatness but it has a rarely appealing warmth which should win many readers. Two women novelists who have left the Chinese scene are Ann Bridge in her novel of the Spanish Civil War, Frontier Passage, and Alice Hobart in her story of the west coast vineyards, The Cup and the Sword.

The library's three copies of Assignment in Brittany, worthy successor to Helen McInnes' masterpiece in suspense, Above Suspicion, are all kept busy. And there is the new Erle Stanley Gardner mystery, The Case of the Careless Kitten.

Annual Army-Navy Classic is Shunted to Annapolis

Transfer Ordered By President Roosevelt To Save Gasoline, Tires and Relieve Railroads

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 23.—(P)—The Army-Navy football game, a victim of its own popularity, has been shunted from Philadelphia's mammoth Stadium to the Naval Academy's 22,000-seat arena as a war economy measure by President Roosevelt.

In a season during which other gridiron contests have shown a drastic falling off in attendance, the battle of the two service elevens was expected to draw its customary 100,000 spectators and the president last night ordered the transfer to save tires and gasoline and to keep the railroads open for more important travel.

The White House statement which accompanied the announcement warned that tickets for the classic be sold "only to residents of Annapolis—not to outsiders." It hinted that the game might be the last meeting of the two for the duration by saying that "the game was scheduled before war was declared and its cancellation at this late date undoubtedly would cause great disappointment."

Annapolis, capital of Maryland, had a population of slightly more than 13,000 in 1940 and is believed near 16,000 now. Last year at Philadelphia 98,924 persons watched Navy defeat the Army, 14 to 6.

Major Hoople's Predictions

BY MAJOR AMOS A. HOOPPLE

Ex-Euchre Champion

Egad! I wish you could have perused my mail when I selected Illinois to defeat Minnesota!

There was a veritable mountain of it—harumph!—and some of the misses were couched in what I might say were uncomplimentary terms, to put it mildly.

But after the returns were in, there stood your modest prognosticator, good old Major Hoople, supreme, triumphant, omniscient and uncanny!

Among the letters was one I prized especially, from Pvt. Mel Mendel of Pope Field, North Carolina. Private Mendel offered to wager a nickel cigar I was wrong (it seems he is a Minnesota man)

I compromised with Private Mendel, after winning the wager, and he is going to send me a Jap instead—heh heh! (Ed. Note: Hoople didn't have a nickel at the time).

Here is the forecast for Saturday's games.

Angie Musi, Temple basketball captain last year, will shoot for the Ordnance team from Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., this season.

Over 150,000 Fingerlings To Be Placed In Streams Of The Forest Area During The Fall

The Farnsworth trout rearing station will have an important part this fall in the restocking of streams in the Allegheny National Forest area, receiving a consignment of from 150,000 to 200,000 fingerling trout for that purpose. These fish were hatched and reared at the fish and wildlife service station at Lamar.

The new Farnsworth station, built by the U. S. Forest Service, will be operated as a branch of the Lamar station according to devices received from Forest Supervisor R. F. Hemingway. The nearby station is an unusually fine addition to the public works in Warren county, being constructed of native sandstone by the CCC and other agencies working under the Forest Service. The public is invited to visit the station at any time and see how the work is carried on.

Each year from 100,000 to 200,

000 fish from federal hatcheries are planted to augment the heavy stocking of legal size fish by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and this year many of the fingerlings are of legal size, also. Stocking is carried on according to a pre-arranged plan which tries to place each species of trout in the type of water to which it is best adapted.

The need for reducing truck mileage to save tires may not be quite as broad as in former years, but a very creditable job is being done by conscientious objectors from the Red Bridge camp.

Of further interest to fishermen of the area is a shipment of 30 cans of catfish on the Thursday morning train from Lamar, followed by a like number arriving to day.

The observation is made today, also, that the catfish and carp withstand the pollution in the Conewango creek last fall much better than did other species.

Officials have commended highly the excellent cooperation of organized sportsmen in meeting these shipments and planting the fish and they feel that even though the war may make it necessary to curtail many of the sportsmen's activities in the near future, it is most satisfying to know that because of their activities we now have a better America in which to live.

HEAVY CONSUMPTION

Electric utility power plants in the United States consumed 5,767,742 tons of coal during November, 1941. In addition they used 1,729,267 barrels of fuel oil and 16,588,710 thousand cubic feet of gas.

BEST OF LUCK, JOHNNY!
Bradford, Oct. 23. (P)—John W. Nelson, Jr., sports editor of the Bradford Era 14 years, was inducted into the army yesterday.

Jamestown Seconds To Play Here

For the third time a game has been scheduled between the Warren and Jamestown second string football players. The game was originally scheduled for the Monday following the meeting of the Warren-Jamestown first string teams and then was postponed until last Saturday. Now it will be played tomorrow.

The game promises to be one of vast interest as both teams will be evenly matched and they will play with vim and vigor. It is to be hoped that a large crowd will be on hand to see the contest as it will be well worth while. The kick-off will be at 2:15 and if the weatherman performs in good shape the game will be fast and furious.

Covering The Sports Front!

By "BOB" JOHNSON

This year as never before has turned into a football prognosticator's nightmare. The average sports scribe usually takes great pride in being able to lead the ears-open public into taking a side bet on one of those sure things and generally picks out a fair sized bunch of winners for them, receiving the expected pat on the back as a token—but this year, ouch—that pat on the back has turned into a well-aimed sock that's liable to turn into a chiropractor's buck—for instance, we have Bernie Bierman's Seahawks making history in their first few games, and then bowing miserably to the mighty Irish without showing even a flash of their former selves. There was Colgate, rated as one of the mightiest of the east, then they Fizzled out like yesterday's gardenias against a sleepless Duke eleven. Then Fordham's Rams, a pre-season favorite, taking the count thrice before subduing a much weaker West Virginia team last week after all that publicity about their backs led by a bunch of names you couldn't pronounce anyway—Ohio State just had a bunch of Sophos and nothing really to worry about; now they're leading the country—and where's the big red from Cornell? So far only Hoople can pick them, and he does it by calling every game by an upset and then crowing about the one he gets right.

After an alibi like that, it just had to come—in black face read the winners—ARMY-Harvard, PENN-Columbia, OHIO STATE-Northwestern, COLGATE-Penn State, MICHIGAN-Minnesota, ILLINOIS-Notre Dame, DUKE-Pitt, DARTMOUTH-Yale, and NAVY-Ga. Tech—That's eight of them, but keep your money for war bonds.
